Põhikiri

Estonian Articles of Association, which form a company's constitution, typically include the company's name, registered office, business activities, share capital, and the rules for how the company will be run. These documents are essential for defining a company's internal operations and ensuring legal compliance.

WorldFirst

Sample